what say the graybeards? For myself, I bluntly refuse to dog-matize. One swallow doesn't make a summer. One success doesn't warrant the formulation of a general law. I've been gambling against Nature for a good many years, and shall be the first to admit that the dice fall unaccountably at times. The way you shake the box doesn't often seem to make much differ-

But Pd like to have some other New England farmer, who has grown discour-aged over his bad luck with corn, try out the old-fashioned scheme. Perhaps the pup doesn't know so much more than the old dog as he thinks he does. Eh?

MONTVILLE

A meeting of the Montville Comm ty Library assocition was held in Pal-mer Memorial School building Monday evening to act upon the resignation of the librarian, Mrs. Margaret A. Jeffers. William Huntley has opened a shop in It was with deep regret that the library committee had previously learned of the resignation of Mrs. Jeffers, which was accepted in accordance with her decision. Mrs. Jeffers has been the faithful librarian since the opening of the library and was an enthusiastic member of the group who carried the project through to success. Mrs. Carl A. Johnson was elected to fill the unexpired term of office. The library has worntly hen moved from its rooms in the office of the Montville Paper company to the manual training room in the Paimer Memorial School building, consequently the books have not been in circulation for a number of weeks. It is planned to reopen the library on Tuesday evening next, July 25th in the new location. The library Asher Stark and family of Providence lighted at Miss Hautle Stark's Sunday.

OUR CONSECTICET distributors have sold more than 800 carloads of Moxic.

To figure out the value, the number of drinks, the number of one-ton truckloads represented by this achievement; the thousands of people given employment directly and indirectly because of it; and the length of time it would take 1,000 people to count the money involved in the process of preparing and serving this vast quantity of 100-percent-pure; cool, and refreshing drinks to millions of Connecti-cut people would be very interesting, no doubt, to those of a statistical turn of mind.
